October 4, 2010- Oakton, VA- Bridge to Freedom Foundation, a 501(C)(3) non-profit recently received great in-kind gift from Webb Mason, a premier marketing systems company. The 60-shirt donation demonstrates the generous and collaborative nature of Webb Mason organizations' support of anti-trafficking efforts.

As one of America's fastest growing print companies, the gift is especially significant. Webb Mason's Oakton Virginia office, led by Executive Vice President Doug Traxler, donated the shirts to Bridge to Freedom to assist our fundraising and branding efforts at events, such as the 2nd Annual Acumen Solutions Race For A Cause .

Since 1989, Webb Mason has continually helped make surrounding communities better. Under Mr. Traxler, the office has maintained his commitment to transform organizations in a positive, measurable way. The same office provides high-quality printing services to private companies and non-profit organizations.

"Webb Mason is an established company whose growth has not outpaced its generosity. We are excited about their donation and support for survivors of human trafficking. We look forward to partnering with them again soon," said Cassandra Clifford, Founder and Executive Director of BTFF. Ms. Clifford opened the Bridge to Freedom Foundation in 2008 to respond to gaps in services for trafficked persons. Her strong leadership and vision quickly grew the Fairfax County-based organization to nine volunteers.

About Bridge to Freedom Foundation:

Bridge to Freedom Foundation (BTFF) was founded in December 2008 to bridge gaps in information and services which hinder the growth of survivors of modern slavery. BTFF works to enhance and improve the opportunities available to survivors. BTFF accomplishes this by connecting for-profit corporations, community groups, educational establishments and the general public. The cornerstone of BTFF's work is their support to survivors in the form of personal and professional development. BTFF's Personal Development Program seeks to give survivors of modern slavery a positive self image, both internally and externally.

BTFF, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, is currently 100% volunteer led and 100% donor supported. Learn more about BTFF's programs at; www.BridgetoFreedomFoundation.org. For more information contact: PO Box 2492 Merrifield, VA 22116; Phone: 703-256-5718; info@BTFF.org
